

Model Implementation Checklist

A model checklist for implementing the Peace Officer Promise

1 Decide

- Take some time to thoroughly consider what the Peace Officer Promise means to you as the leader of the organization.
- What will it mean for you to implement internally?
- What will it mean for you to implement externally?
- Decide to implement the Peace Officer Promise.

2 Bring in Stakeholders

- Convene an internal working group within your agency.
- Meet with your workforce to share your plans for the Peace Officer Promise.
- Meet with electeds/appointeds to share your plans for the Peace Officer Promise.
- Meet with other local stakeholders, faith leaders, business leaders and service club leaders to share your plans.

3 Select Your Goals

- Example: Establish a community advisory board to work with you on the Peace Officer Promise.
- Example: Hold a series of community listening sessions to solicit input about the Promise.
- Example: Plan for an internal audit of departmental culture, policies and procedures in the context of identifying that which might cause harm while seeking to do good.

Write Goal #1 here:

Write Goal #2 here:

Write Goal #3 here:

4 Public Announcement

- Develop a press release announcement (download Model Press Release here).
- Develop a PowerPoint (download Customizable PowerPoint here).
- Capture footage of the event announcing the Peace Officer Promise for use in a custom video (learn more here).
- Make a presentation to the city council/county commissioners, Mayor, etc.
- Plan your public efforts to inform your community through the delivery of the presentation to service clubs, faith leader groups, neighborhood associations and/or business district alliances.
- Remember to solicit interest for your community advisory board if you convened one.
- Have the agency website changed to include a section for the Peace Officer Promise. (download model website language here)
- Include a section for a report card on your progress which lists each of the goals you selected and the dates.

Police2Peace is a registered mark of Police2Peace. Peace Officer Project, Peace Officer Promise and Peace Officer Framework are trademarks of Police2Peace.