

Building Bridges: Transforming Police into Peace Officers with Police2Peace

Mission

Police2Peace is a national nonprofit organization based in Washington DC, dedicated to bridging the gap between law enforcement agencies and the communities they serve through positive changes in policing practices. Our flagship initiative, the Peace Officer Project, focuses on transforming law enforcement officers into peace officers to enhance professionalism, communication, and public engagement skills.

The Challenge

In today's rapidly evolving public safety landscape, perceptions of law enforcement have shifted, leading to decreased trust and confidence in police. There's a lack of national consensus on the role of police, with cultural barriers hindering effective community policing efforts.

Our Solution

Police2Peace offers comprehensive training and technical assistance to municipal policing agencies. Our program revolves around the concept of police officers as "peace officers," emphasizing effective, empathetic, and just policing. By implementing this transformative approach, we aim to instigate agency culture change and rebuild public trust in law enforcement.

What We Offer

Training Courses Our curriculum educates participants on transforming from "law enforcement officers" to "peace officers," fostering increased public trust and confidence.

Operationalization Guidance We provide practical training on implementing the peace officer framework within agencies and communities.

Train the Trainer Our program ensures sustainability by empowering agencies to continue training beyond our initial sessions.

Your Impact

By donating to Police2Peace, you directly contribute to funding training licenses for police departments that lack the financial resources to access our program. With your support, we aim to train a third of the nation's police officers over the next five years, positively impacting over 100 million Americans.

How You Can Help

For just $20 per officer, you can help us train every police department in the country. Join us in creating safer, more connected communities by supporting Police2Peace today.

Leadership

Police2Peace was founded by Silicon Valley technology executive Lisa Broderick. Lisa began her career at Apple Computer in the 1980's and understands the power of "disruptive technologies" and how the term "peace officer" has the potential to transform policing nationally. In 2018, Lisa and a group of community members and police leaders came together around the national problem of lack of trust and confidence in the police. Police2Peace is the result.
